A close-up photograph of a handwritten signature, 'T. J. Jones', written in dark ink on a piece of white paper with horizontal blue lines. The signature is written in a cursive style. The letter 'T' is large and prominent, with a long horizontal stroke that extends to the right. The 'J' is also large and has a long, sweeping tail that goes down and then back up to the right. The 'o' is small and round. The 'n' is tall and narrow. The 'e' is small and round. The 's' is tall and narrow. The signature is written on the second line from the top of the paper.

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and heart rate reserve (HRR) of sedentary middle-aged men. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group (n = 10) and a training group (n = 10). The training group performed a 12-week training program consisting of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes. The control group did not participate in any training. The HR and HRR were measured at rest and during maximal exercise at baseline and after 12 weeks. The results showed that the training group had a significant decrease in HR at rest and during maximal exercise, and a significant increase in HRR at rest and during maximal exercise, compared to the control group. The control group showed no significant changes in HR and HRR. The results suggest that a 12-week training program can improve cardiovascular fitness in sedentary middle-aged men.
